

You Only Noticed It Once

You only noticed it once.

Not because it left.
Not because it changed.

But because you did.

For a moment—
everything aligned.

Just enough to see it.

You tried again.

Looked the same way.

Waited for it.

But it didn't return
like that.

It wasn't gone.

You just weren't there the same way.